GOLDEN DAYS OF RADIO

Australia Post 'tunes in' to radio of the 1940s and 1950s. These were the days when the radio was very important as a centre of home entertainment. Radio had, to some extent, supplanted the piano and gramophone as sources of family amusement. Families gathered together to listen to variety and talent shows. Housewives waited breathlessly for the next episode of Big Sister or Blue Hills. Listeners marvelled at the knowledge of quiz contestants. Children hurried home from school to 'listen-in' to adventure serials or the Argonauts' Club. Stamp designs: Otto and Chris, Patonga Beach, New South Wales. Pack design: Janet Boschen, Australia Post Graphic Design Studio. Illustration: Listener In, 18-24 June 1955, State Library of Victoria.
